Qualifications for Higher Education

Prove your English. Achieve your goals.
Own your future.
Our story began in 1941 when the University of Michigan established the English Language Institute (ELI). This pioneering organization was the first university-based intensive English program in the United States and the first language research and teaching program of its kind in the Western Hemisphere. In 2010, the testing division of the University of Michigan ELI joined with Cambridge Assessment English to form Cambridge Michigan Language Assessments, a not-for-profit collaboration. In 2018, we rebranded to Michigan Language Assessment.

As Michigan Language Assessment has changed and grown, we have continued to invest in research to ensure that our tests are reliable, fair, and accessible. Test takers and institutions trust that the score reports are valid.

Today, universities, education departments, businesses, and government agencies around the world rely on our English language tests to assess and verify the proficiency of English language learners of all ages and levels. Our comprehensive tests enable students worldwide to expand their personal opportunities and gain internationally recognized certification. We help learners prove their English, reach their goals, and own their future.

Michigan Language Assessment helps people achieve their education and career goals by providing trusted English language exams that draw on the expertise of two of the world’s leading universities.

Founded in 1817, the University of Michigan continues to be one of the top public research universities in North America. With more than 575,000 alumni, the University of Michigan is a well-known and highly respected presence in higher education and beyond.

Cambridge Assessment English, part of the University of Cambridge, has over 100 years of experience assessing English language and a global network of offices and examination centers in 130 countries.

Many educators find the CEFR useful in that it comprehensively describes what skills language learners exhibit when using language to communicate. The CEFR describes language ability on a scale of levels from A1 for beginners up to C2 for those who have mastered a language. This makes it easy for anyone involved in language teaching and testing (learners, teachers, teacher trainers, etc.) to see the level of different qualifications. It also means that employers and educational institutions can easily compare qualifications and see how they relate to exams they already know in their own country.

What is the CEFR Framework?

Michigan Language Assessment exams are aligned to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). This framework is published by the Council of Europe. The CEFR provides a common basis for elaboration of language syllabi, exams, and textbooks.

| C1    | • Can understand a wide range of demanding, longer texts and recognize implicit meaning
• Can express him/herself fluently and spontaneously without much obvious searching for expressions
• Can use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic, and professional purposes
• Can produce clear, well-structured, detailed texts on complex subjects, showing controlled use of organizational patterns, connectors, and cohesive devices |
| B2    | • Can understand the main idea of complex texts on both concrete and abstract topics, including technical discussions in his/her field of specialization
• Can interact with native speakers quite possibly without strain for either party
• Can produce clear, detailed texts on a wide range of subjects and explain a viewpoint on a topical issue giving the advantages and disadvantages of various options |
| B1    | • Can understand the main points of clear standard input on familiar matters regularly encountered in work, school, leisure, etc.
• Can deal with most situations likely to arise while traveling in an area where the language is spoken
• Can produce simple connected text on topics that are familiar or of personal interest
• Can describe experiences and events, dreams, hopes, and ambitions, and briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans |
| A2    | • Can understand sentences and frequently used expressions related to areas of most immediate relevance (e.g., very basic personal and family information, shopping, local geography, and employment)
• Can communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar and routine matters
• Can describe in simple terms aspects of his/her background, immediate environment, and matters in areas of immediate need |
| A1    | • Can understand and use familiar everyday expressions and very basic phrases aimed at the satisfaction of needs of a concrete type
• Can introduce him/herself and others and can ask and answer questions about personal details such as where he/she lives, people he/she knows and things he/she has
• Can interact in a simple way provided the other person talks slowly and clearly and is prepared to help |

Common European Framework of Reference for Languages
The Michigan English Test (MET) is a secure, multilevel test measuring English language proficiency for language learners at the high-beginner to advanced levels. MET test content refers to social, educational, and workplace contexts. The MET can be used for schools, higher education, and professional purposes and is intended for test takers at or above a high school level of education.

MET Sections

The MET is offered as a 2-skill or 4-skill test. The 2-skill test includes the listening and reading sections, and the 4-skill test also includes the writing and speaking sections.

Listening & Reading

Together, the MET listening and reading sections are 100 minutes long and comprise 100 multiple-choice questions in two parts. (Vocabulary is assessed within both parts.)

Listening
- 35 minutes
- 50 questions
- Assesses the ability to understand conversations and talks in social, educational, and workplace contexts

Reading
- 65 minutes
- 20 questions that test language usage
- 20 reading questions that assess the ability to understand thematically related texts in a variety of genres
- 2 extended reading passages designed to test comprehension; 10 questions total

Speaking & Writing

Speaking
- 1 examiner & 1 candidate
- About 10 minutes to administer
- 5 tasks designed to give the test taker the chance to speak on a number of different topics
- 2 of the tasks focus on academic topics

Writing
- 45 minutes
- 1 structured task that assesses the ability to write at the sentence level
- 1 essay task designed to give the test taker the chance to write at length, demonstrating paragraph-level writing skills
- 1 of the 2 tasks focuses on an academic topic
How is the MET scored?

The speaking and writing sections are graded according to scales established by Michigan Language Assessment. The speaking test is administered and scored by certified examiners. The writing test is scored by certified raters.

The listening and reading sections of the MET are machine-scored at Michigan Language Assessment. Each correct answer carries equal weight within each part. There are no points deducted for wrong answers.

When are results received?

Michigan Language Assessment returns the score report results to the test center one week after the 2-skill tests are received for scoring and two weeks after the 4-skill tests are received for scoring. Return times are dependant upon test centers returning tests for scoring within the return window.

How are results reported?

Score reports are distributed by the test center. The score report will have an overall average score and separate scores for each section taken. Each section score is reported on a scale from 0 to 80 and corresponds to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) scale.

What about people who need accommodations?

Michigan Language Assessment wants everyone to be able to demonstrate language ability under circumstances that are fair and equitable. Test takers can request accommodations, which may include changes in the format or the administration of the test.

When is the MET offered?

The MET is offered at least once a month. Test takers must register with a local test center to take the test. MET test content is unique with each administration, so test takers can take the test as many times as needed.

Certificate

An optional MET Certificate of Achievement can be provided by Michigan Language Assessment. The certificate lists the skill sections and the test taker’s overall CEFR level. The certificate features the logos of the University of Michigan and Cambridge Assessment English.

Preparing for MET

Sample test materials are produced by the same professionals who develop the MET test content. Sample test materials are available on the Michigan Language Assessment website.

Practice materials are also available for purchase. We have partnered with University of Michigan Press to publish a practice test book for classroom use and a practice test book for self-guided study.

Speaking & Writing

Speaking
- 1 examiner & 1 candidate
- 15 minutes

- 4 stages
- Increase in difficulty as the test progresses with each stage building on the last
- See a full sample ECCE Speaking Test video available on the Michigan Language Assessment website

Writing
- 1 topic prompt
- 30 minutes to write an essay or a letter on the prompt
- No right or wrong responses
- Each essay is evaluated and scored by trained raters

Writing Test Expectations
- Topic developed with organized content
- Smooth connections between ideas
- Variety of grammatical constructions used accurately and appropriately
- Range of vocabulary used accurately and appropriately
How is the ECCE scored?
The listening and reading sections are machine-scored at Michigan Language Assessment. Each correct answer carries equal weight within each part. There are no points deducted for wrong answers.

The speaking and writing sections are graded according to scales established by Michigan Language Assessment. The speaking test is administered and scored by certified examiners. The writing section is scored by certified raters.

Are alternate English spellings penalized?
The writing and speaking tests' scoring criteria emphasize effective communication. All standard English spelling varieties are accepted in writing, and the speaking section evaluates intelligibility rather than accent.

How are results reported?
Section scores are reported in five bands. The levels of performance, from highest to lowest, are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ECCE</th>
<th>Scaled Score Per Section</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Honors (H)</td>
<td>840–1000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pass (P)</td>
<td>750–835</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Low Pass (LP)</td>
<td>650–745</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Borderline Fail (BF)</td>
<td>610–645</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fail (F)</td>
<td>0–605</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Certificates are awarded to test takers with an average score of 650 or higher. Those who achieve a score of 840 or higher in each of the four sections will be awarded a Certificate of Competency with Honors.

What about people who need accommodations?
Michigan Language Assessment wants everyone to be able to demonstrate language ability under circumstances that are fair and equitable. Test takers can request accommodations, which may include changes in the format or the administration of the test.

When is the ECCE offered?
The ECCE is offered twice a year, in May and December. Test takers must register with a local test center to take the test. ECCE test content is unique with each administration, so test takers can take the test more than once.

How should I prepare for the ECCE?
There are many ways to prepare, but the best preparation is through the general study and use of English. Practice materials are also available on our website.
The Examination for the Certificate of Proficiency in English (ECPE) is a secure American English test for learners at the highest level of proficiency (CEFR C2). ECPE test content refers to social, academic, and workplace contexts. The certificate can be used for educational or professional purposes and is valid for life.
